

BREAKING BINARIES:

Looking for a way to better understand the differences in how individuals identify across assigned sex, gender expression, gender identity, and sexual orientation?

Try charting yourself on this worksheet. Make a checkmark where you feel that you fall in each category. Consider using this tool as a way to get a conversation started about the reality of our often non-binary identities and the rich diversity that we embody.

Don't feel like you're on the spectra? Write in your identity and maybe use it as an opportunity to educate others.
