

Straight for Equality in the Workplace:
What the Plus?: Understanding and Supporting Expansive

Background:

As conversations about sexual orientation, gender identity, and gender expression evolve and employees feel empowered to own less commonly understood identities it can create challenges for companies who strive to create welcoming and inclusive workplace culture. That’s why education around what it means to hold often ignored, less visible, identities that make up “the plus” is so important. Knowing how to support employees, and how to demonstrate allyship is a necessary part of diversity and inclusion efforts for corporations.

This learning session provides key learning on terminology (as well as terms and comments to avoid), how to demonstrate allyship, and create spaces that are more inclusive for individuals with identities that commonly make up “the plus” in LGBTQ+. Finally, this learning session will help employees and network groups learn about resources created for and organizations led by individuals and communities with identities that are a part of “the +.”

Content Overview:

- Review some of the identities that are often considered to be a part of “the +” including intersex, nonbinary, Two-Spirit, bi+, asexual, aromantic, and polyamorous as well as how individuals with those identities are in need of support in the workplace;
- Discuss ways we can all, regardless of how we identify, can demonstrate allyship to individuals who hold these, sometimes invisible, identities;
- Consider ways to develop meaningful and effective [ERG] programming focused on these, often underserved, identities, and;
- Get connected with organizations led by, and resources created for, individuals and communities with identities that are a part of “the +”
